

MANA POURVAHIDI & SEPEHR KARKHANECHI

MAY 18, 2013

THE KING EDWARD HOTEL proved to be the perfect backdrop for Mana and Sepehr who wanted a location to match their elegant-yet-modern wedding vibe. "The hotel was a fabulous venue, and it also happens to be one of our favourite spots in the city," the two share. "From the moment we saw it we were smitten with its historical architecture and warm ambience." Their wedding day began with a first look at the hotel's Crystal Ballroom (boasting floor-to-ceiling windows and an immaculate view of the city) followed by a Persian ceremony and a romantic candlelit reception dinner in the Vanity Fair Ballroom. "It was a day of insatiable joy and overwhelming love," the two smile.

CLOCKWISE FROM TOP LEFT

"When Sepehr and I met, it felt like we had known each other our whole lives," Mana gushes; The couple describes their four-tier wedding cake as "stunning, flawless and delicious"; The elegant and majestic wedding decor paralleled the grand ambience of The King Edward Hotel; Continuing with their minimalist theme, Mana and her bridesmaids held white bouquets featuring garden roses and camellias (Mana's middle name is Camellia!); Mana and Sepehr's adorable "Happily Ever After" cake topper.

DETAILS

bridal gown Ines di Santo, inesdisanto.com

cake Truffle Toronto, truffletoronto.com

groom's tux Hugo Boss at Harry Rosen, harryrosen.com

makeup Renata De Thomasis, renatadethomasis.com

photography Krista Fox Photography, kristafox.com

reception location The Omni King Edward Hotel, omnihotels.com

wedding planner Fabulous Occasions, fabulousoccasions.com

SEE MORE at weddingbells.ca/manaandsepehr.

TEXT ALESSIA PICCOLO. EDITOR ROSEANNE DELA ROSA.